

Anita de la Vega Scholarship Fund
2023 Junior College Application and Conditions Form

About the Scholarship Fund: Family HealthCare Network (FHCN) is a private nonprofit organization offering primary and specialty care services with 46 locations serving Tulare, Kings, and Fresno Counties. Founded in 1976, FHCN has grown into the largest provider in the South Valley with the mission to provide quality health care to everyone in the communities it serves. In 2009, FHCN established the Anita de la Vega Scholarship Fund in honor of Anita de la Vega, a clinician who had a long-lasting impact on the organization because of her dedication to serving the underserved and her strong encouragement for higher education. Her clinical career in Tulare County spanned three decades where she was respected for her tenacity, mentorship, work ethic, and commitment to community service. Anita felt it was a privilege to practice medicine in underserved communities, but that it was a responsibility to advocate for them. Her exemplary professionalism and community service continues to be an inspiration for being a voice for the underserved and for the improvement of our communities' health.

About the Award: A $1,000 scholarship, sponsored by Family HealthCare Network's Anita de la Vega Scholarship Fund, is available to deserving Junior College students from Tulare, Kings or Fresno Counties.
